Please note that all four of our devices offer a wide range of options for both thermal and non-thermal services, including hot and cold treatments. It is important to mention that these devices require a power converter to convert the voltage from 120V to 220V if you live in a country that uses 120V. This can be conveniently purchased on Amazon.

Only the cold plasma tips, which are non-thermal, require an argon source tank & pressure regulator. The argon gas can also be purchased on Amazon. However, it is important to note that warm plasma, diamond tip, and ozone tips do not require argon gas.
